Go down Lower Fore Street, past the Guildhall to the footpath opposite Boscundle Row. Follow the path under the Tamar Road Bridge then uphill alongside the Bridge to just past the grey fenced Gas Valve complex.

Then:

OR continue uphill to the proposed site of the Celtic Cross. Then continue to Elwell Road opposite the Saltash Cadet Centre. Turn right and make your way downhill. Where the road turns left at the right-hand side of the road there is a Public Footpath (un-signposted) going straight on. Follow that path (Sand Quay Lane) downhill, the way can be very slippery, to Old Ferry Road.

Go across Old Ferry Road, Jubilee Green and the boat park to the River Tamar railings. Turn left and follow the tarmac path past the Brazier, over the Slipway and Brunel Green.

Then, depending on the tide:

EITHER go along the River Tamar fore-shore to Saltmill Recreation Ground and make your way across the recreation ground to Saltmill Lane.

OR go along Old Ferry Road to Glanville Terrace: then downhill along Saltmill Lane to Saltmill Recreation Ground.

From Saltmill Recreation Ground go along Saltmill Lane, past Shute Cottage and Cross Park Lodge. Just past Cross Park Cottage and Villa private entrance take the Public Footpath to the right that leads to Beaumont Terrace. Turn left and at the end of Beaumont Terrace, an unadopted lane, turn left and go along the road to a staggered crossroad. The road to the China Fleet Country Club is to your right. Go straight ahead along Pill Lane towards Mill Park House and Pill Farm.

Then:

EITHER continue straight on past Mill Park House to a 'kissing gate' and then taking great care cross the busy A38(T) dual carriage way using the central reservation safety barrier overlap. (This crossing is a Public Footpath.) On the other side of the road steps lead down to another kissing gate. You are now in Brooks Hill Lane. Go downhill to the 'Ford' and cross the stream. (If the Ford is flooded it's possible, to use paths through the housing estate after climbing up the bank at the kissing gate and to make your way to a bridge, the other side of the Ford, that leads back into Brooks Hill Lane,).

Go up Brooks Hill Lane to New Road and turn right. Go along New Road for 65 metres and go left onto a Public Bridleway going uphill to Lollabury Road. At the end of Lollabury Road turn left into Callington Road and passing the Police Station return to Fore Street.

OR follow the road around to the right passing the entrance to Pill Farm, Cockles Park and go along the Unclassified Road (signposted Public Bridleway) continuing straight on along Pill Lane past Byeways.

Then at a gate designed to allow horse but not vehicle access Pill Lane does become a Public Bridleway. The Public Bridleway continues alongside the A38(T) to another gate designed for horse but not vehicular access and ends at Avery Way (near Waitrose Supermarket) the end of Saltash Walk 6.
