Saltash Town Council joins calls for Government to take action on sewage discharges

Saltash Town Council have joined calls for the Government to take action on sewage discharges in Cornwall. Councillors discussed the issue at the Full Town Council meeting held in June where it was agreed that there is a need to look at the issues of why this is happening, how to prevent it and to put pressure on water companies to address the issue immediately.

The Town Clerk and Chairman will write to Cornwall Council, MP Sheryll Murray and the water companies to urge them to take action.
